*If all my golden moments could be rolled into one,
they would shine just like the sun . . .
and after it was over we could have it back again . . .*

A compelling story of Charlie, a mentally retarded man and the strange interweaving of his life with that of Algernon, a mouse. Experimental surgery has been performed on Algernon increasing his intelligence fourfold. The operation is tried on Charlie whose intelligence rapidly changes to that of a genius. As Charlie approaches the peak of this brilliance, Algernon shows frightening symptoms of regression. This is a different kind of play: poignant, romantic, funny and tragic but with a hope for man's indomitable spirit.

A brisk day in the English countryside finds an ailing Frampton Nuttel arriving at the Sapling Estate to recuperate. The fun begins when Vera convinces shy Frampton that members of her family have disappeared and thus the necessity for the open window. Frampton is so completely taken in that by the time his hostess appears, the quiet afternoon is charged with an air of doom.

One of the goals of Rivertown Players, Inc. is to educate and develop skills in the theatre arts. In light of this goal, many of tonight's participants are working in positions that are new to them (a form of "hands-on" experience). Your comments and suggestions on any and all aspects of this production would be helpful and greatly appreciated.
